CONFIDENTIAL
DECL: OADR

RELEASED IN FULL

MEETING WITH UK
Rwanda/Burundi

UNAMIR

o   We should continue to push for rapid deployment of UNAMIR.

o   You should express our appreciation to the British for contributing 600 troops to the humanitarian effort. (The troops are acting in a support capacity and may not be blue-helmeted.) We should ask how this deployment is going.

Encouraging Repatriation/Reconciliation

o   We need to push deployment of human rights monitors. (We plan to contribute $750,000. The British are providing 250,000 pounds and pressing other EU members to contribute.)

o   We will continue to monitor the behavior of the new GOR and encourage them to broaden its base and respect human rights.

o   What are the UK's views on enhancing security in the refugee camps in Zaire? How do we handle disarmament?

Accountability

o   We need to speed up establishment of a war crimes tribunal. (After initial hesitancy, the Brits now support a tribunal in principle, but have not yet agreed to our proposal to expand the jurisdiction of the Yugoslav tribunal so as to avoid reinventing the wheel.)

o   We need to move to detain suspects. We are considering a UN resolution giving member states the authority to do so.

Burundi

o   We must continue to push Burundians to install a President.

o   We should encourage the Brits to follow our lead and send high level visitors.

o   We should press the idea of a refugee conference in Bujumbura. (The Brits would like the UNHCR to be in the lead. They would like the conference to avoid political discussions that might enflame passions in Burundi and have suggested talks at a technical level.)

o   We are supporting the UNHRC's human rights advisory services plan ($300,000 contribution) and pressing the OAU to make better use of its monitors? What other initiatives should the international community consider?
